

THREE KILLED IN FIRST U. S. A. CASUALTY LIST

AUTO THIEVES GOT TWO CARS HERE LAST EVE

Fords, Owned by Doctor McNicol and J. E. Wolfe, Taken.

ROB LUMBER CO. OFFICE

Nothing of Value Taken at Wilbur Lumber Co. Yards.

Robber had a holiday in Dixon on Sunday night, and as a result of their activities two Ford automobiles were taken from the streets of the city and the office of the Wilbur Lumber company was ransacked, nothing of value being obtained there, however.

The automobiles stolen were the property of Dr. A. M. McNicol of this city and J. E. Wolfe of Franklin Grove, Dr. McNicol's car, which was a 1916 model, thoroughly curtained, was stolen from in front of the Methodist church, where the doctor had left it while attending services there.

Mr. Wolfe's machine, which was a 1917 model, was stolen from in front of the Brethren church, and several robes, which had been left in it, were also taken. The police were notified, but at a late hour today had gotten no trace of either machine.

At the Wilbur Lumber company of five robbers gained entrance by opening a window to Manager Harms' private office. Being unable to open the cash drawer the thieves unscrewed the fastenings, but secured nothing for their trouble, as the money was all in the safe. A box of cigars and some tobacco were taken, and Mr. Harms' shot gun was found outside the office by Night Office Doctor as he made his rounds, when he found the window open.

Cuban Congress is Asked to Provide For Conscription of Army in World War

(Associated Press Leased Wire) Havana, November 4.—The Cuban congress which convenes tomorrow, will be urged to either authorize conscription or a selective draft. The raising and equipment in the near future of a strong military force, in line with President Moncal's recommendation in his last message, and with the plan of Cuba's council of national defense, await only the determination of the method to be followed, rather than the wisdom of the policy of General Moncal and his advisers, who are determined that Cuba's alliance in the war against Germany shall take on a vital character. Leaders of both political parties are in accord concerning the active raising of a large military force—possibly doubling the present strength of the regular army and militia of more than 25,000 men, and a similar strengthening of the naval units and personnel. Whatever differences exist on the eve of the session as to conscription or its alternative, a public demonstration of loyalty to Cuba's allies is expected when the members of congress take their seats.

Whatever the character of the military measure to be enacted, all indications are for speedy action. The attitude of the conservatives, the party in power, which at first was only lukewarm toward universal military service, has become more pronounced in its favor, and statements of leaders indicate no opposition to the increase of Cuba's war strength. The liberals, on the other hand, have no

CAMP GRANT OFFICER TELLS LEE CO. FOLKS OF Y.M.C.A. ACTIVITY

A. L. Mayer of Building No. 3 Spoke at Ashton Sunday.

ORGANIZING WORK

Work in Lee and Ogle Counties Is Progressing Nicely.

The committee of District No. 2 of the "Y" War Work campaign is becoming busier each day. Sunday marked considerable activity, today shows more. The plans for organizing Lee and Ogle counties were seriously hampered by bad weather during the past two weeks. It has been found necessary in order to perfect the organization to secure the entire time of A. D. Klontz of Polo to organize Ogle county and H. M. Babin of Dixon to organize Lee county. These men will visit all the communities and in co-operation with men already enlisted in the campaign, will arrange for conferences at Rochelle, Oregon, Leaf River, Polo, Amboy and Paw Paw. Into these group meetings, representatives from all the townships of the counties will be gathered for training and assistance in organizing their local campaigns. Yesterday, two large meetings were held in the interest of the Red Triangle, in the forenoon at Franklin Grove and in the evening at a meeting in the high school auditorium at Ashton. In both places the houses were crowded to capacity and a great interest manifested.

Camp Grant Man Here. The speakers who presented the work here were A. L. Mayer, formerly of Freeport, Y. M. C. A., now director of Building No. 3 at Camp Grant, and J. D. Kinderin of the local.

WOMEN'S WEEK IN WAR WORK IS OBSERVED

Registration of Fair Citizens in Progress All Week.

DIXON REGISTRAR BUSY Expected Every Woman in Dixon Will Do Her Bit Before Saturday.

GOV. LOWDEN'S PROCLAMATION.

To the Women of Illinois:

The week beginning Nov. 5, 1917, has been set aside for the registration of the women of Illinois. I urge upon all women to go to the place designated in their communities and to register their names. This applies as well to those who feel that they will not have time for other duties than they now discharge as to those who have the time and are willing to help directly in the work which the war has brought. There are some who will be able and willing to take the places of men who have been called to the colors. There are others who will help in the work of caring for the families of those who have gone to the front. There are still others who will be glad, through the Red Cross and other like organizations, to help to minister to the comfort and welfare of our soldiers. In the field. There are a thousand activities for which women are peculiarly fitted, and which will help greatly to maintain our morale in the field, and what is equally important, to maintain our morale at home. The registration cards will be provided at the

WHEATON-DIXON BATTLE A DRAW HERE SATURDAY

Muddy Field Made Playing Slow on Country Club Grounds.

DIXON, 0; WHEATON, 0

Local Boys Put Up Splendid Battle Against Heavier Visitors.

The Dixon Union High School football team and the Wheaton High School team, played a nothing-to-nothing game at the Country Club grounds Saturday, under very trying conditions, and put up a very creditable exhibition of the game.

With a muddy field which prevented the light Dixon team from using its speed to advantage, with a very slim crowd of supporters on the grounds (the expenses were nearly $90, and $20 was taken in at the gate), and against a team that outweighed them, the local eleven put up a gritty, snappy game and by their sheer nerve and wise playing, succeeded in successfully defending its goal.

Supposition Is That General Cadorna Has New Lines Ready.

(Associated Press Leased Wire) Berlin, Nov. 5.—Austro-German troops have crossed the middle Tagliamento river and taken 6,000 prisoners, the war office reports. They are advancing toward the west.

Rome Verifies News. Rome, Nov. 5.—The Germans have crossed the Tagliamento river, the war office announced. Austro-German pressure against the Italian northern wing has been intensified.

After their retreat from the Isonzo the Italians took up positions along the west bank of the Tagliamento river, which runs across the northeast tip of Italy from the Alps to the sea and offers a natural line of defense for the plains of Italy. This line is shorter than the old one, but it is not certain that the Italian commander, General Cadorna, intended to hold it, electing merely to defend it while preparing positions farther back.

RUSS DRIVE TURKS.

(Associated Press Leased Wire) Petrograd, Nov. 5.—In the region of the Black Sea coast the Russians have driven the Turks from their first line and advanced in some places to the third line, the war office announces. Much booty was captured.

PRO-GERMAN TALKERS MUST APPEAR BEFORE THE EXEMPTION BOARD

Members of District Board at Freeport Investigate Charges.

TALKS ARE SEDITIOUS

Board Member Charges Farmers With Desire to Make Money.

Freeport Journal-Standard.—The district exemption board concluded their work of acting upon claims for exemption at the session yesterday afternoon, then took adjournment until next Thursday afternoon, when it is expected that a few more claims will be up for action. There have been a number of people ordered to appear before the board for various reasons.

May Prosecute.

"There is nothing more dangerous than a man who swears to a false affidavit—one who will affirm his name to an instrument, purporting to be a sworn statement."

This remark was made by one of the members of the board Saturday afternoon, when an affidavit was read concerning the exemption of a young man. One of the members was conversant with the affairs of the young man in question and his family affairs and he stated that the board should take steps to prosecute some of the men who lied in their affidavits in order to obtain release of some one from military service.

"Such affidavits have been the cause of the board making some mistakes and probably doing an injustice to one while some who should go to the army escape," declared another

Rev. Newton Says Worst Claims of German Atrocities In Belgium Are True

"Heretofore the great contributions that have been made to mankind as I have indicated, have been made by the little places. What the future may reveal only a prophet may foretell.

"By the same token if we hold to this as valid and authentic we must also insist that the land of our enemies shall also be free to develop and give to universal humanity that which is unique and great in its genius. Because, also, strangely, a country lets itself depart from its own tradition and has been led into paths not only alien to its former high history, but which means injury to itself as well as destruction to others, we find ourselves confronted with the present hour and the present war. The world is greatly indebted to the old time Germany, the Germany of the makers of music and the seekers of wisdom, whose great minds and beautiful voices have given to the world thoughts, echoes of which can never die and which must never be forgotten.

Germany Morally Insane.

"And there are those here who in their hearts think of that Germany of other days and they do not realize the change that has taken place in that land. They do not follow the process by which a great people have become, however scientifically efficient, for the time being, morally insane.

"Why did America enter the war so far off across the great sea? Why

GERMAN BARRAGE TAKES TOLL OF AMERICAN LIVES

Early Morning Barrage Catches Small Salient of Line.

TWELVE MEN CAPTURED

Five Are Wounded and Twelve Are Missing, Says Pershing.

(Associated Press Leased Wire) Washington, Nov. 5.—Three American soldiers were killed, five were wounded and twelve were captured by the Germans who cut off a small salient of the American front early on the morning of November 3 by means of a heavy barrage. One German soldier was captured by the Americans, according to General Pershing's official report.

CASUALTY LIST.

Washington, Nov. 5.—The official casualty list of the losses of American troops in France in their first clash with the Germans was issued by the war office today.

The killed. Private Thomas E. Enright, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Private James B. Gresham, Evansville, Ind.

Private Merl D. Hay, Glidden, Iowa.

Five others were wounded and twelve were captured or missing. Among the captured or missing were two Chicago men, Privates Herschel Godfrey and Harry Langman.

TRAPPED IN DUGOUT?

The American troops were trapped in their dugouts and forced to surrender or be blown to pieces with hand grenades.

This is the only explanation which occurs to army officers here today.

General Pershing's brief report merely stated that the German artillery had dropped a heavy barrage fire about a sector of the trench, cutting the men off from help. The fact that one wounded German was captured, however, indicates that the trench has been recaptured by the American forces.

Whether the men killed and wounded received their injuries in hand to hand fighting with the raiding German infantrymen or were struck down by shrapnel is not known.

Presumably the American trench raided was an outpost. With only twenty in it, it could not have had a front of more than fifty or sixty feet.

SAFE IN LONDON.

(Associated Press) Rev. Joseph Fort Newton and family have arrived safely in London according to a cablegram received recently.

Rev. Newton Says Worst Claims of German Atrocities In Belgium Are True

(Continued from Saturday.) "So far as we are concerned, it is not a war of hate, it is not a war of revenge, it is not a war of conquest. There has never been a war in our history where the case has been so clearly drawn.

What Modern War Is. "Let me try, if I can, by taking you with me on a little trip to the front, to give you some conception of what a modern war is like, that you may know what our boys, are going into and. Oh, if I could only make you see it as I see it, you would not need anybody to ask you to stand back of those boys. And then the women that are knitting and our Red Cross workers each will recognize that she has a part in this war, an indispensable part, which is as truly noble as that of her which stands in the front line of the trenches. She receives an order for so much material, she works hard, she returns the order filled, and it seems sometimes like pouring water into the sea. I have seen where it goes to, and there is no leakage. Oh, if I could but make those busy women all over our land realize what they are doing!

"It was on the invitation of the English government that I went on a journey all along the British front into France and down to Paris. I can tell you only briefly and swiftly the facts and impressions of that journey. First I had a very pleasant visit with Mr. Balfour, who had just

The sale will be in three divisions, namely, one of baking and fruit; the second of needlework consisting almost entirely of useful articles, and the third, of second hand clothing. All contributing to this sale are asked to bring their donations to the above named store on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Ahrens, following the report, very graciously rendered two vocal solos, with Miss Dysart as accompanist. "In the Time of Roses" (Reichardt) and "The Year's at the Spring" (Beach). Lillian Ray's "The Sunshine of Your Smile," was given in response to generous and well merited applause.

Mrs. Law, who is still absent from the city, entrusted her sketch of Dr. Oliver Everett to Mrs. Burnham to read, which, as all can attest, was placed with a most competent reader. Mrs. Law's paper was most interesting to those who had no personal acquaintance with Dr. Everett, and certainly intensely so to those who have had that pleasure.

Springing from a very distinguished ancestry—people of prominence in the history of England as they were in this country, he was by nature well equipped to shine as a gentleman and a scholar in any sphere he chose to honor.

He came to Dixon's Ferry in 1836 when there were but three or four log cabins, one frame house, others in construction, and a blacksmith shop. He opened an office in a room in Father Dixon's house and from that time on cast his fortunes with this section of the country. In its wild, crude condition. He was the true and faithful friend and physician to wait on his patients. He was greatly interested in geology, ornithology, entomology, and botany, and made a desirable record in all these different branches of research, evidences of which are in existence to day, some in our own library, others, 722 Hennepin avenue, the members of the Missionary society of the Baptist church. The meeting opens at 2:30 o'clock. The subject of the lesson is "The White Man in Africa." Miss Ella Pratt will conduct the lesson.

THIS IS WOMEN'S WEEK IN AMERICA

places of registration and will enable each woman easily and fully to indicate where her chief usefulness to our country will be in this crisis.

A general registration of the women will bring cheer to our soldiers in the field, strength to our government and will give notice to the world that the spiritual resources of this most righteous war.

FRANK O. LOWDEN
 Governor

This is the women's week in war activities. At 9 o'clock this morning throughout the entire nation the registration of the mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of the great republic for help in any way possible began, and until Saturday night the work will continue. By that time the Woman's committee of the Council of National Defense will have information showing to what extent the women of the country love their country, and in what ways they will be able to serve the cause of democracy and liberty.

In Dixon the registrars were on duty at Felsa's confectionery and every day all bright and early and every day this week various ones of the committee, named by Mrs. L. F. Cooling, chairman of registration, will be present at those places to register all women who call. The registration places will be open every evening until 6 o'clock and on Wednesday and Saturday evenings registrars will be on duty until 9:30 o'clock to give ladies employed in the stores and factories an opportunity to do their bit.

The government does not compel the women to register—it merely requests that all women show a true patriotic spirit in assisting in the work of compiling every resource of the country for the war. The laws of New York have made it compulsory for the women to register in that state, but the committees in charge of the work in Illinois feel certain that the fair citizens of this state will not have to be forced to help in the great work.

Progressing Nicely.
 Reports to Mrs. Cooling this afternoon indicated that the women of Dixon were taking an active interest in the country's call and that Dixon township would not be tardy in the work. Mrs. Harriet Dodge was the first woman in the township to register her service.

Mrs. Mahlon Forsythe addressed the girls at the Borden milk factory on the subject this morning.

"Smith used to call his little house 'The Nutshell.' I wonder why he has changed the name?"

"He grew tired of having funny people calling to ask if the kernel was in."

"These times are making it warm for the motorists."

"Yes; they are getting roasted by the public or else they are scorching themselves."

"Did I understand you to say that Mrs. Twobble is an active club woman?"

"Active is hardly the word. Why, I don't believe she has lunched at home in six months."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"The word camouflage is going the rounds."

"Yep."

"How does a word like that get into the language?"

"Well, it has been in the newspapers for some time; I saw it in a magazine last week; it will be in the dictionary next."

"Studying economy?"

"Yes, I have found so many ways in which other people can effect a saving I don't see much necessity for stinting myself."—Washington Star.

TO USE VIOLENCE IN N. Y. ELECTION?

GUNMAN'S CONFESSION BARES PLOT TO INTIMIDATE VOTERS.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

New York, Nov. 5.—District Attorney Edward Swann issued a statement today declaring that he had obtained the confession of a "gunman" alleging that an organized effort was to be made during tomorrow's municipal election to prevent voters for John M. Hyland, the Democratic candidate for mayor, from reaching the polls by intimidation and assault. The confession, according to the district attorney, says the gunmen are not to kill but are to disabuse voters. They are under the leadership of a strikebreaker who has "unlimited money to spend" and "has had promised protection."

NINETEEN KILLED IN FIRE

Salvation Army Mission Destroyed at Paterson, N. J.

Paterson, N. J., Nov. 5.—Nineteen men lost their lives at a fire which destroyed the Paterson Salvation Army Rescue Mission. Eighteen were burned before rescuers could reach them. The other was one of fourteen taken to a hospital.

Many others were badly injured, either in the smoke from the building or by jumping from windows.

Several of the victims were burned beyond recognition. Some of the bodies may never be recovered.

There were 85 men sleeping in the building. Many were old and many crippled, as the mission was conducted as a haven for unfortunates who possessed no home and little means of livelihood.

The firemen were delayed several fatal minutes in responding because of the uncertainty as to the location of the fire.

Charles Wild Jr. of Rockford is here visiting for a few days. He is an operator with the Western Union Telegraph Co.

BOOMING THE WATERWAY.

Waterway transportation is to receive a big boost through the action of the national government.

A fleet of boats has been kept in the Ohio and Mississippi rivers for improvement work. These are to be used to tow barges up the Mississippi river with coal for points in the northwest. On the way down the barges are to haul ore.

The government has also arranged to set aside a certain amount of steel plate to co-operate with private manufacturers in producing a fleet of barges to be put into service next spring.

The first ore-laden barge fleet from St. Paul was scheduled to arrive in St. Louis today.

Edward F. Goltra of St. Louis recently secured a number of barges from the government to carry coal to keep the municipal buildings and the public schools in St. Paul running and now they are returning with ore from the ranges in the north.

The idea is that when the winter closes river navigation in the north the fleets will be sent south and thus be operated the year round.

Peoria has fallen in line with the waterway boom and is to vote on a special bond issue to prepare suitable wharves for the boats.

The war may bring the great lakes-to-the-gulf waterway system much nearer completion than would have been possible otherwise.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF DRUGS.

Arthur Woods, police commissioner of New York, makes a strong point when he urges that the control of habit-forming drugs be placed directly in the hands of the federal government.

This is a period of extraordinary government control.

The war has brought the necessity to us.

It may be that when peace comes again the good features of government control will so appeal to the people that centralization will be continued upon a much more elaborate scale than is now thought of.

But there can be no two ways about the necessity for government control of the habit-forming drugs.

Of course the federal law has done a world of good in cleaning up the traffic, but Commissioner Woods declares that 2,000 arrests are made yearly and that heroin and cocaine can be easily obtained in New York any time.

Attorney General Gregory, the commissioner says, has agreed to draw up a bill placing control of these drugs in the hands of the government and Senator Calder will introduce it.

If the people derive benefit from the control of food, fuel and other necessities, how much more the need for placing these drugs that debase them in the hands of the government.

THE MILK SETTLEMENT.

The compromise in the milk price dispute between the dairymen and the big dairy companies was carried out on the lines indicated in the Register-Gazette yesterday by E. W. Engstrom, Rockford's local director in the association of producers. The price accepted by both sides for November and December is $3.22 per 100 pounds in place of the $3.71 asked by the producers. This was the proposal of the government. Meantime the question of cost will be ascertained by experts through an examination of hundreds of dairies. The price for the first six months of 1918 will be based on the dairy cost of the milk.

It is the normal presumption that after the pending winter conditions will begin to show some betterment and ultimately much lower prices. The loss of the forage crops cannot be replaced out of hand. That takes two seasons, but a partial remedy can be had next season. The main issue at stake is that of averting the sacrifice of the dairy herds in carrying the industry over the present winter's forage famine. The government inquiry into dairy costs will be diligently conducted the next sixty days. When it is ended it will be possible for the public as well as the dairymen to see what the essential merits of the question are.—Rockford Register-Gazette.

LOWDEN STRIKES A HIGH NOTE.

New York Evening Post: "I don't yet know if the state criminologist is a Democrat or Republican." This utterance of Governor Lowden is in such marked contrast with what has been coming out of Chicago for some years that it is only fair to the good name of Illinois to call attention to it.

The circumstances under which it was made recall the enlightened days of Hughes in New York and Wilson in New Jersey. The governor of the state of Lincoln—and Lorimer—was addressing the state conference of charities and corrections. Illinois, he declared, would both preserve her democracy and make herself efficient. How? Partly by "choosing heads of state charitable departments for ability rather than politics."

Illinois, in the opinion of her governor, "wants a system in her charitable institutions whereby a young man or young woman who starts in at the bottom may one day hope to be head of the institution he or she is in." This is one of the highest notes that have been struck by any important public official in a good while. Governor Lowden's words call for a step that should be urged with increasing insistence in every state. They do him special honor in being spoken at a moment when most governors are stressing national problems.

IF IT WASN'T FOR THE HORNETS.

"Forward with God!" cries the dual king of Prussia and emperor of Germany as his legions overrun the Italian plain.

But he is notably silent about God on the western front.

A circuit riding preacher once hung a pair of buckskin breeches in the loft of his log hut.

The first sharp Sunday in the fall he put them on and entered his rude pulpit all unaware that hornets had built a nest in them.

Warning to his text he began to feel the stings and the warmer he got the hotter were the stings.

Finally, slapping his thighs he cried in desperation:

"Brethren, God's in me mouth but the devil's in me breeches!"

If you are sending Christmas presents to the soldiers, send them now. November 15th is the last date that Christmas presents may be sent to soldiers abroad with any assurance of their getting the packages by Christmas.

TOTAL OF PHYSICAL REJECTIONS FROM LEE COUNTY QUOTA SMALL.

The Lee County Exemption Board today received notice that of the thirty-five men sent to Camp Grant on October 4, all have been accepted as physically fit for service. These figures show that 115 out of the 118 men sent to Camp Grant from Lee county thus far have been accepted, which makes the total of rejections for physical reasons exceptionally low.

Lee county must send fifty-six more men to the camp to make up her full quota.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

THE MILK QUESTION.

Dixon, Ill., Nov. 5, 1917. To the Public:

The recent misunderstanding regarding milk prices has been adjusted and we believe it is satisfactory to all concerned.

In the meantime many stories have been circulated and statements made regarding the quantities of milk delivered at Dixon factories during the period covered. The following is the correct record of this:

Per Pounds Per Dairies, Cent. Milk, Cent. Oct. 31, 1917, 453 100 57,862 100 Nov. 1, 1917, 235 32 29,815 51 Nov. 2, 1917, 180 32 24,990 43

This corrects the statement published in your People's Column over the signature of Mr. Cox, wherein he stated that less than 20 per cent of the producers delivered milk Thursday morning, and a much less number on Friday morning.

I also wish to take this opportunity of correcting the report which has been circulated on the streets in and about Dixon that the superintendent had gone out among the milk producers and told them that the Borden company had all the milk they needed or could get all the milk they needed and did not care whether dairymen in this locality sold to them or not. This is absolutely untrue and whoever started it did it maliciously.

There is no desire on our part to enter into any controversy and we believe we have the good will of the dairymen, which we wish to retain, but inasmuch as these statements have been circulated, we believe it only fair to all concerned to give the facts as they are and which can be verified from our records.

Albert Borst, Superintendent.

Y. M. C. A. WAR WORK

association. E. C. Senneff, J. G. Gledon and A. H. Stoddard furnished special music for the gathering. Mayor described association buildings and gave a detailed account of the work carried on at Camp Grant. He mentioned the fact that 6,000 boys of the camp are entered in classes studying the French language taught by volunteer teachers, and 2,000 men are studying the English language.

Many men in Camp Grant from foreign districts in Chicago knew so little English that they cannot understand ordinary military commands. These men are being taught by the Y. M. C. A. classes. The weekly program in the building keeps them occupied every minute of the day. In the evening, when men are released from duty, there is a general stampede for the Y. M. C. A. building, where an opportunity to write letters, to sit down by the fireplace, to read or have music; and from that time on, standing room in the green buildings is at a premium. One evening a week is given over to stunts, in which way various companies exhibit their talents. Other evenings are filled with moving pictures, educational films and lectures, concerts, etc. There are at present six buildings in camp and a seventh has recently been raised to serve the colored men sent to the camp.

The local committee met at noon to formulate plans for the Dixon campaign. There is to be a group conference meeting at Polo tonight, to be addressed by J. DerKinderin of Dixon.

Not So Hard as Living.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Deseret News: The vice president of the Erie railroad recently issued an order to employees which is decidedly worth repetition in the case of other transportation systems—steam, electric and street. The railroad referred to has been required, as a war measure, to aid in the movement of troops, government supplies of freight, to reduce its passenger train service. Under such conditions trains, at times, are unavoidably crowded, and in spite of the best intentions it is not always possible to give every passenger a seat. In order to make this grievance as light as possible to the public, the Erie officials enjoin upon all employees riding free or on passes to be especially careful in observing the courteous obligation not to occupy seats when pay passengers are compelled to stand. He holds that this is a plain duty, prompted not only by consideration of courtesy and right, but also by loyalty to the road itself in enabling it to retain the confidence and good will of the traveling public, under circumstances which can only be made acceptable by everybody's co-operation. It is a sound bit of advice upon a rule that is unfortunately more often honored in the breach than the observance.

Providence Journal: More than one thousand barrooms went out of business in New York city with the first of October increases in the state surtax, added to the increased wholesale price of whisky, which makes that particular beverage cost a New York dealer $5.10 a gallon. About two thousand more liquor places in the state were closed for the separate reason that the new law limits the number of liquor saloons to one for every five hundred inhabitants in political subdivisions having less than 55,000 people.

New York city will be a better place to live in for the loss of these thousand saloons. One good result will be to lessen the rentals of small storekeepers who sell necessities of life and who had to bid for floor space against the thousand competitors now driven out of the rent market. Economically, the cutting down of the drinking places will have other beneficial consequences for the community in time of peace as well as in war, conspicuous among them a favorable influence on local government. Always in New York the liquor traffic has been a powerfully corrupting factor in politics and a source of inefficiency, promoting crime as one of the glaring features of general misrule.

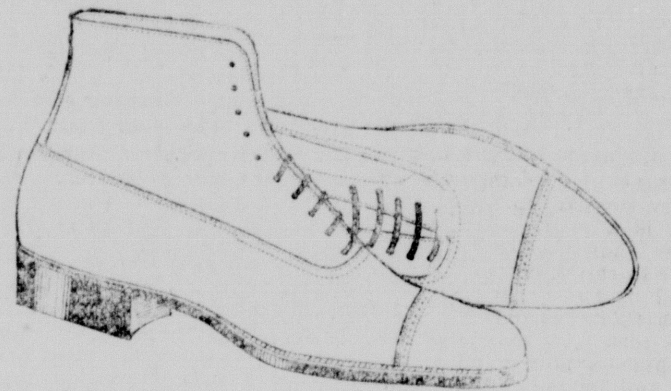

Wisconsin State Journal: In the city of Oshkosh on the shores of Lake Winnebago, there stands the meditative statue of the greatest American of German birth, the heroic foe of Prussianism, of autocracy, the gallant defender of democracy—Carl Schurz. He represented in America the Germans who fled from the crushing despotism of Prussian militarism and became citizens of the United States because they loved liberty. He does not represent the Germans who came to this country because they merely loved the dollar and the better opportunity this country gave them to gain the dollar. All the Carl Schurz kind of Germans in America stand uncompromisingly for the liberty that Carl Schurz loved and came here to gain, and being here supported and gave his life labor to enlarge. All the high minded Germans who, like their great poet Goethe and like their great American pilgrim, Carl Schurz, have a passion for democracy and hatred for autocracy, are not only standing with our flag today in its fight to defend our country against the insolent attack of autocracy, but they are ready to give their all to overthrow and free the world from the despotism.

from which they or their fathers fled.

Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat-Chronicle: The suggestion comes from many quarters that Thanksgiving day this year be observed as a day of fasting, instead of the customary good cheer. While the motive back of this suggestion is undoubtedly sincere, the desirability of such a radical change from the old custom is at least questionable. There are many reasons why the people of this country should give thanks for the blessings which have been vouchsafed to them. The occasion need not be made an excuse for wasteful extravagance. But it is untimely to banish from the minds of the people the blessings which, notwithstanding the clouds in the sky, are still enjoyed. Many of these blessings are more obvious even than usual.

NEWTON CLAIMS WORST STORIES ABOUT ATROCITIES IN BELGIUM ARE ALL TRUE

returned from this country and was full of praise over his welcome he had received here. He referred me to the man having this in charge. He was a Scotchman, and I soon learned that wherever one went in the foreign office or the war office you found the head of the department was a Scotchman, and when he wasn't a Scotchman he was nearly always an Irishman. The commander of the armies of Britain in Flanders is a Scotchman. The admiral of the grand fleet is a Scotchman. The chancellor of the exchequer is a Scotchman. The secretary of the foreign office is a Scotchman. The prime minister is a Scotchman. The first lord of the admiralty was an Irishman. Somebody ought to introduce a bill into parliament for home rule for the English.

Cross Channel Rapidly.

"Our visit was strictly arranged and we left London in the midst of a pouring rain in a little toy train, for it appeared so in comparison with ours. We went like the wind to a port in southern England and across the channel and landed somewhere in France. Crossing the channel is a very ticklish business at any time. That is a place where you can get sicker than on any other body of water in the universe. We were protected by the great British navy, to which this republic owes an incalculable debt. We landed at the place at which Napoleon stood once on a time and looked so wistfully toward England, waiting so to bring that nation of shopkeepers to their knees, and he would have done so if his admiral had not sold out for good English gold.

"Perhaps you can locate our landing place, for we are not permitted to tell. We were met by a swift military automobile. They took us to a mediaeval castle in France, with its moat and portcullis. It was like stepping back into the land of romance of which Sir Walter Scott was wont to write. Try to think of one who was accustomed to living in the tall grass of Iowa, standing in a mediaeval castle.

Mystery Meets Mystery.

"It was worth going miles to see those English officers entertaining the first party of Americans who were the guests of the English foreign office. When an Englishman meets an American one mystery approaches another. It must puzzle them much to understand why two creatures so unlike speak the same language. The commander having in charge said that he had never met but two Americans before; that he had been living for thirty years in India; and I asked him if Barnum & Bailey had never been to India.

"From this old castle they took us, from time to time, over the admirable French roads, first to one place and then to another. The first time we went over the battlefield of Arras—the Kaiser had spoken of the English army as a 'contemptible little army,' referring to the first one hundred thousand, which was one of the finest trained armies of its size in the world, the story of which you have probably read by Ian May, entitled 'The First Hundred Thousand,' and I don't see one of them that I don't feel like taking off my hat to the men who with little Belgium saved the day. But the Kaiser has had reason to repeat his slur at the 'contemptible little English army,' and the first answer to that is the battle of Arras. He has also spoken of the non-existent and invisible American army. He will get his answer to that, too.

"The nearer we came to the war zone and the battlefield the more numerous became the tokens of destruction. The ruins of Arras were a sight to see, having a beautiful station. There may be those who have changed cars at Arras. Not a single house is left intact in Arras. They are burned and torn and blasted. It is one bewildering mass of ruin. Of that stately cathedral, only one or two pinnacles stand and a part of the altar, that is all. About fifty cypresses lined their life in holes and carvings, for it is shelled every day, and keep little shops in which they sell things to the British soldiers. That is all that is left of that beautiful city.

"The word that is written every day and through that whole battlefield is the word 'waste,' waste of life, waste of brains, waste of money. Piles of junk here and there and between them little military graveyards where sleep the boys who fought at Arras.

"It was rain, rain, rain. Sherman said that war was hell. That day I knew it was mud and infinite mud, measureless mud. And I was glad it was raining. I wanted to see it at its worst. I wanted to see what those boys had been through. And we went toward the battle front. It has been gradually moving toward the Rhine. It will keep moving. And it should not stop until it goes halfway over into Germany that the people may know what war is.

"We passed on one side of a red splash of crumbled brick that had been a village, and on another reminiscence of a village. Between Arras and where the front now is, is a tangled mass of barbed wire and wreckage.

"Some two and a half miles behind the line we got out of our car, on either side of the road, and we talked to soldiers of the conditions here and there. I remember one little dugout where I had such a delightful visit. On one side was a little tin can on one side of the doorway with a bouquet of flowers, and on the other side was a little toy windmill such as you cut out when a boy and made it flutter in the wind. Such were the devices of the boys to while away the tediousness of war, the monotony of war. I went down into the dugout and there I found the British Tommy, the gentle, genial, openhearted fellow that he is.

Doctor Newton then told of the care of the wounded. He witnessed ambulance load after ambulance load of men being transported to the rear and then on trains to the big hospitals. He told something of the work of these hospitals.

He also described the training camps, where men are first put in perfect physical condition and then taught the infinite technique of war. They are drilled in trench fighting, shown how to use the bayonet, and trained in every detail of the work.

He told of the school for snipers, where sharpshooters are trained for their deadly work. The school is in charge of an Irish-Canadian, who claims that the Canadians and Americans make the best snipers because their forefathers were taught this kind of warfare in their battles with the Indians.

The speaker told of rehearsals he had seen of men crawling over a mine. No Man's Land.

He spoke particularly of the team work that is developed in the soldiers before they are sent to the trenches. Each man must learn that he is a part of the system, that democracy means discipline.

"Democracy without discipline," said Doctor Newton, "is dangerous, as we are learning in the case of Russia."

Gas Mask Made in 1913.

He told an incident of the discovery by one of the English officers of a German gas mask.

He heard the officer cursing and swearing and on asking him what was the matter the man said:

"Look at that," and held up the gas mask.

"Well, what of it? We have seen many masks like that."

"But look at the date."

There on the mask was the date 1913, showing that Germany was all ready a year before the war started to use asphyxiating gas in spite of the solemn agreements of all civilized nations not to use it in warfare.

Closing, the speaker paid a tribute to the Canadian soldiers and told of the expectancy with which these men look forward to the coming of Americans with whom they can joke without writing out explanations.

AMUSEMENTS

DIXON OPERA HOUSE

In the theatrical world, as in other spheres, something that is different is the thing that attracts and gets the laurels along with the stray shekles. In the way of diversion that makes contemporary entertainments secondary and commonplace we think that the new musical comedy offering "Stop! Look! Listen!" composed by Irving Berlin, with book by Harry B. Smith, is the best that has been presented in seasons. This is the production that ran for an entire year at the Globe theatre in New York City and at Boston, and has just finished a three weeks' engagement at the Auditorium theatre, in Chicago. It is said to be replete with more fun making ingredients than any other offering bearing the so-called caption of musical comedy. It is further reported to contain more unique features and surprises, and also can boast of more pretty girls, capable musicians, novelties, songs, ensembles, etc., than falls to the lot of similar shows.

The play is headed by Chuck Riesner, Maude Beatty, Kittie Hart, Hazel Boyne, Alton and Allen is underlined.

Managers Eastman and Rohrer guarantee this show to be clean in every way and to be the best attraction that has visited Dixon in several seasons.

PRINCESS THEATRE

"I'm going to keep you, M'sieur," hisses Jean Croisset, the French-Cree and then a grim struggle ensues between John Howland, the young American, and the half breed. The battle occurs in a succession of thrilling scenes in "The Danger Trail," a tale of the Canadian northwest, written by James Oliver Curwood. H. B. Warner and W. Lawson Butt stage the fight. Both are trained athletes, six feet one inch in height. Both went through the battle determined to outdo in realism, if that were possible, the wonderful fight in "The Spoilers." H. B. Warner has joined the Seig company and "The Danger Trail" is the first drama in which he will appear in K. E. S. E. "The Danger Trail" will be presented tonight at the Princess theatre.

Overt Acts.

Notice was brought to the attention of the board concerning certain persons residing in the vicinity of German Valley and Forrester, who are alleged to have made assertions derogatory to the United States government. Notices were sent to them to appear before the board on Thursday, at which time they will be given a chance to defend themselves. It is claimed that seditious utterances have been made freely by some people residing in German settlements in this county and Ogle county and if there is truth in the reports they will undoubtedly be turned over to the federal authorities.

Grass Will Grow On Farms.

Several farmers who appeared before the board yesterday afternoon made the assertion that if the government insisted in taking young farmers to the war the coming year would see grass growing in fields where the crops should be. This aroused the ire of Mr. Carpenter, a member of the board, who jumped to his feet saying: "Any man that makes such a statement tells a lie." Mr. Carpenter

U. S. FINDS GERMAN HORRORS

Inventions for Frightfulness Campaign Found in Washington.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Proof that Germany plotted the war for world domination at least ten years before she struck in 1914 has been hidden in Washington unknown for years. The plans for many of Germany's deadliest surprises have been deposited in the United States patent office. Under the trading with the enemy act they may now be licensed to United States manufacturers and turned against Germany.

An investigation in the patent office reveals:

1. The horrible flame projector and gas shells that killed thousands of the allies, taken away by this new barbarity of warfare, were on record.
2. Improvements in German submarines that now are sinking our transports and destroying the supply ships of the allies.
3. Inventions in aerial and anti-aerial ordnance.
4. New grenades, heavy cannon, field ordnance improvements and high explosive shells.

These records were assembled through a search of the patent office to learn what German-owned inventions could be used by American manufacturers under the trading with the enemy act. It was found there are more than 20,000 of them.

The patent office records show few German inventions of humanitarian aspect, compared with patents of that sort to other foreigners.

NAVAL PAY ROLL IS HALTED

Embezzlement of $3,000 Reported at Great Lakes Station.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—An embezzlement of $3,000 of the funds of the paymaster's department of the Great Lakes Naval Training station became known when it was announced that the monthly disbursement of more than $1,000,000 has been held up for nearly a week. The pay of more than 15,000 sailors has been delayed while an investigation has been put under way. All of the paymaster's assistants are under bond and none has left the station. It was announced that, while none is under suspicion, there will be no pause in the investigation until the embezzler is caught. Capt. W. A. Moffett, commandant at the station, made a statement covering the incident. He said the shortage had just been checked down, after several days of painstaking labor.

ALLIES WIN AIR BATTLES

Sixteen German Machines Shot Down and Fifty Damaged.

Paris, Nov. 5.—Air fighting on a scale unprecedented in the war was indicated in an official statement, which mentions encounters over Malmesbury in which 16 German machines were downed, three captive balloons burned and fifty German planes so damaged they fell within their own lines.

Auxiliary Cruiser and Ten Patrol Boats Sent to Bottom—Electric Vessel Destroyed.

London, Nov. 5.—The admiralty announces that certain British forces have been engaged in the Cattegat, an arm of the North sea, between Sweden and Denmark, and that prisoners are being brought in.

An official statement issued by the admiralty says that ten armed patrol craft, in addition to the German auxiliary cruiser, which was equipped with six-inch guns, were destroyed. The statement issued by the British admiralty says:

"Further reports from our forces operating in the Cattegat have been received. We destroyed a German auxiliary cruiser armed with six-inch guns and we also destroyed ten armed patrol craft. Sixty-four prisoners have been rescued by our forces. No British losses have been reported."

"Further details will be published on the return of our forces to their base."

An attack was made on British vessels patrolling the Belgian coast by an electrically controlled high-speed boat. The boat was destroyed.

The following official statement was given out:

"An attack was made on our vessels patrolling the Belgian coast by an electrically controlled high-speed boat. The attack was defeated and the boat destroyed."

Copenhagen, Nov. 5.—The sinking of the German raider Crocodile and five German armed trawlers is reported by men on two Danish steamers.

The Crocodile was a new ship of nearly 1,000 tons, and carried a crew of 100 men.

The commerce raider, which was disguised, and the trawlers, were sunk Friday in the Skagerrak, an arm of the North sea between Norway and Denmark. The British destroyers thus effected another clean-up of German naval forces in Scandinavian waters.

Elseneur, Denmark, Nov. 5.—Wounded men from a German auxiliary cruiser sunk in the North sea were landed here.

SOCIALISTS CRY FOR PEACE

Hillquit Supporters Cheer for La Follette at New York.

New York, Nov. 5.—"We want peace!" Morris Hillquit, Socialist candidate for mayor of New York city, exclaimed at the close of an impassioned speech.

"During the course of the battle of Malmesbury," the statement also says, "our aviators, with great audacity, attacked the enemy troops with their machine guns and bombarded stations and points of concentration. They fought 611 aerial engagements."

ILLINOIS FLYER NOT DEAD

Corporal Buckley Taken Prisoner by the Germans.

Paris, Nov. 5.—Corporal Everett Buckley of the Lafayette flying corps, who was reported killed on September 5, is not dead, but a prisoner in Germany. It is believed that Buckley was wounded when captured by the enemy.

Corporal Buckley of Kibbourne, Ill., was reported to have been shot down and killed within the German lines. This report was denied several days later by Paris friends of the American flyer.

While on patrol Sgt. Ray C. Bridgman of Chicago and Sgt. Henry S. Jones of New York had an exciting combat with two German biplanes.

Ladies—Measure His Head!

A phrenologist writes: "Heads wearing hats 6 1/2 inches and smaller, or being less than 21 inches in circumference, can never be powerful. Between 19 inches and 20 inches heads are invariably very weak, and no lady should think of marrying a man with a head less than 20 inches in circumference. People with heads under 19 inches are mentally deficient, and with heads under 18 inches invariably idiotic."

Life's Treasure Stores.

Success and contentment begin with the realization that life represents a valuable treasure. We may liken life to a field. At first the owner values it for wild berries; then, ceasing to be a wanderer, he becomes an agriculturist, and values it for its rich harvest; grown wiser still, he discovers coal; amazed at the treasure, he digs and finds silver and gold; astounded, he goes deeper, and lo! the seam is full of diamonds. And every life holds all the strata of underlying and unsuspected stores of treasures.—Rev. Newell Dwight Illiss.

JUST KIDS—The Old, Old Story.

By Ad Carter

One Girl's Work for Her Home Town

By Sarah Graham Morrison

THERE is a town in western Pennsylvania whose original population has been greatly increased during the last decade by an influx of foreigners, drawn there by the new steel mills which have gone up in its neighborhood. Domestic science has not yet been added to the school curriculum. Four years ago one of the girls of the town returned from college, full of energy and anxious to be of use in the world. A number of girls of about her own age formed into a Sunshine Society, to meet every Saturday afternoon and sew. But the college girl was not satisfied with sewing for those who were not as well off as herself.

"We ought to do something to help our new neighbors to help themselves," she said.

So it was suggested that the members of the class gather together any children who were anxious to learn to sew and teach them to make their own clothes.

The meeting place was central enough, but it had no lavatory. The teachers applied to the R— Club, which rejoiced in the possession of a splendidly equipped club building, casting over a quarter of a million. Permission was given to bring the sewing class there.

"We follow no regular system of sewing," the youthful president of the club explained, when she was asked about the sewing class teaching methods. "Where the teachers are all untrained—and frequently a class has a different teacher every week—it is difficult to adopt a system. We have, however, gradually developed from our own experiences a series of classes which seem to suit our present needs. The new pupils all enter the 'patch class,' where they must learn to thread their needles quickly, to knot their thread, what length of thread to take and on which finger to wear their thumb—something most difficult for them to remember. Then they are ready for the 'blue thread handkerchief class,' where they sew with blue thread (the better to show up their large stitches), and on barred dimity, a good material on which to learn how to turn a straight hem. When they have succeeded in making a satisfactory handkerchief hemmed with blue thread, they go to the 'white handkerchief class,' and some make four or five handkerchiefs there before they can go to the next class which is the 'towel class.' Then follows the 'gingham apron class,' the 'white apron class,' again on barred dimity, 'the petticoat class,' and the older girls graduate into the 'cutting out class,' and also learn to darn stockings, which they detest above all things.

"Our attendance now numbers over one hundred each week, and in good weather over one hundred and twenty-five. The children come from the farthest outskirts of the city.

This college girl's enthusiasm and energy have raised the standard of living in many a home, and her town is the better for her presence and helpfulness. Many a girl who has the inclination to do these things must devote herself to the task of earning a living for herself and those dependent upon her; others have never been awakened to any need for their help; many are handicapped by not knowing how to start. This story is told, not only to arouse those who have the time for such work, but it also gives the details—so that some one may be impelled to do her part or help some other girl to make a beginning.

A PENNY PARTY

MISS MILDRED invites you to spend next Friday evening at her house. Come at eight o'clock and bring a new penny.—R. S. V. P.

Invitations like the above were sent to seventeen friends, and all promised to come. The hostess had been busy preparing for this novel party by securing a quantity of pennies and planning several original "stunts." When the guests arrived, two dishes of pennies were passed, one to men and one to women. Each guest took one and then matched dates for partners. The man who selected the penny dated 1895 must seek the partner with an 1895 penny. Lincoln pennies were not used on account of the contest which followed later.

Next, writing material was passed and the guests were told to write the life story of his or her penny, using the first person singular. Stories were limited to one hundred words. A penny prize was given to the writer of the clearest story.

The next contest was short, and called for the use of the new penny each guest had brought. The hostess started it by addressing a gentleman guest with the challenge, "A penny for your thoughts!" holding at the same time the bright, new penny before his eyes. The answers had to be given promptly or the penny was forfeited. One of the men then asked some woman guest the same question. Very amusing "thoughts" contributed to the fun.

The final contest called for the pennies used in choosing partners. Cards were passed, on which were the questions given below. Each guest was told to examine his or her penny carefully, and somewhere upon it would be found the correct answer for each question.

1. An ancient weapon—Arrow.
2. Our own country—United States.
3. Messages from absent ones—Letters.
4. Contents of a pillow—Feathers.
5. A protection—Shield.
6. An ancient reward for Victory—Wreath.
7. An early inhabitant of the U. S.—Indian.
8. What our ancestors fought for—Liberty.
9. Something we all like to eat—A date.
10. An odor—Cent (scent).
11. Fruit of the corn—Ear.
12. A continent—America.

Ten new pennies on blue cotton in a dainty box was the reward for the most correct list, and an old penny was given as a booby prize.

A delicious supper was then served. The place cards were plain white cards on which was a penny embedded in sealing wax.

Try These Delicacies

TOMATOES A LA REINE

One-half cupful of cooked chopped meat, one-half cupful of boiled rice, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, three-fourths cupful of white sauce, salt and red pepper to taste and mix thoroughly together. Scoop out the centers of four large tomatoes and fill with the meat mixture. Place the tomatoes on a buttered plate, cover with a buttered basin and steam for twenty minutes. Serve hot or cold garnished with watercress.

MAYONNAISE WITH CONDENSED MILK

A delicious creamy dressing can be made with the following ingredients: One-half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of mustard, one heaping teaspoonful of sugar, a pinch of red pepper and mix thoroughly; then add one egg and beat well with an egg-beater, adding olive oil slowly until it commences to thicken. Then add the strained juice of one-half lemon and one-half teaspoonful of condensed milk.

beating all the time. The addition of the milk doubles the quantity of the dressing and adds greatly to its flavor. This will be as firm as whipped cream and will keep indefinitely. It is very nice with all kinds of cold meats as well as with any salad.

DUTCH CROQUETTES

Take one pound of pork and one pound of beef and grind together in a food chopper. Add one heaping teaspoonful of powdered sage, one tablespoonful of finely chopped onion and salt and pepper to taste. Mix the ingredients well, then form into little balls or croquettes, dip in dry flour and fry in a pan with smoking hot lard until done. When the bottom side is nicely brown, turn over so both sides will be a lovely brown. If one does not like the flavor of sage or onion they may leave out whichever flavor is distasteful. If a strong flavor is not liked, try a level teaspoonful of sage only. Use raw pork and beef for these croquettes. Serve while hot.

Some Facts About Babies

By Marianna Wheeler

Formerly Superintendent for Fifteen Years of the Babies' Hospital, New York

A NORMAL baby is one who develops naturally, both mentally and physically. The average healthy baby weighs from seven to seven and one-half pounds at birth, as an average weight is obtained by weighing a large number of babies, then taking the gross weight and dividing it by the number of babies weighed. A baby may vary a few ounces or a half pound from these figures, and still be perfectly normal as far as weight is concerned.

Babies who are fed properly, have plenty of sleep and fresh air, should gain steadily, a little over double their birth weight at the sixth month, and treble by the time they are one year old. Any baby who approximately reaches these figures, and is otherwise in good condition, may be considered a normal child, and will not need to enter a contest to be assured of this fact. There are a few mothers who do not seem quite satisfied with a perfectly normal baby, but are foolish enough to try to improve a bit on nature by pushing development, as far as weight is concerned, faster than intended. In doing this they err on the wrong side.

Nature provides in the mother's milk an evenly balanced food through which muscle, fat and bones are each evenly developed, according to their usefulness and the work required of them. To push them beyond their natural requirements is not a gain; it is a mistake. There are many who seem to think that fat is a sign of health. While a certain amount of fat is desirable, too much is as undesirable and as unhealthy as obesity is in an adult.

To boast that one's baby weighs at three months as much as most babies do at six months, or nine months; or when a six months' old baby rivals a year old child in weight, is not a thing to be so very proud of, for, if a fair comparison is made, it will almost always be found that the normal, well-rounded, just fat enough to be plump baby, will in the matter of health and general development far outclass his overfat and stolid neighbor.

An excess of fat is usually at the expense of good firm muscle tissue and well developed bones. The internal organs are usually smaller than the normal child's, and lack tone. Croup and bronchial troubles are frequent enough to be almost chronic; sour stomach, vomiting spells, constipation and summer complaint are common, and these babies seem to lack resistance to ward off such attacks.

The foods that supply fat do not nourish the bones, and consequently overfat babies do not cut their teeth as early, or walk as early as the normally developed child; also the fontanel, as the opening on the top of the head is called, closes later. The following figures as to the development of the normal child might interest mothers, but as I have said above, the average allows for a slight variation over or under the figures given:

- Average weight of a normal baby at birth, from 7 to 7 1/2 pounds.
- Average height of a normal baby at birth, from 20 to 21 inches.
- Average weight of a normal baby at six months, from 15 to 16 pounds.
- Average height of a normal baby at six months, from 25 to 26 inches.
- Average weight of a normal baby at one year, from 20 to 21 pounds.
- Average height of a normal baby at one year, from 28 to 29 inches.

The first two lower teeth are usually cut between the sixth and ninth months, the four upper between the eighth and twelfth months. At one year there should be six teeth; at eighteen months, twelve teeth, and sixteen teeth at two years. A normal baby should begin to sit up straight for a few moments at a time about the sixth or seventh month, and at nine months will bear his weight on his feet. With a little support about the eleventh month he will stand alone, and walk a few steps at the twelfth or thirteenth month; but babies should make these attempts at standing and walking themselves; they should never be urged.

The First Woman Newspaper Reporter

THE first woman who ever owned and edited a newspaper, and indeed the first professional "interviewer" of either sex, was the widow of a Virginia revolutionary officer, Mrs. Anne Royall. She was born in Maryland in 1769 and came to Washington, D. C., in 1824 to secure a pension. Failing in this, she conceived the idea of starting a newspaper. She managed to secure an old Remage printing press and a font of battered long-primer type with which, aided by trans journeyman printers and runaway apprentices, she published on Capitol Hill for several years a small weekly sheet called the Washington Paul Pry, and later The Huntress. Everybody of note who visited Washington received a call from her, and if they subscribed for her paper, she mentioned them in the next issue with the highest praise, but if not, she did not spare uncomplimentary references to them. She met personally and talked with every man who became President of the United States from Washington to Lincoln. She died on October 1st, 1854.

Ways of Eating Eggs

NEARLY every nationality has some special way of cooking and serving eggs for breakfast, and quite unconsciously the average person's order of eggs will reveal his nationality.

Americans are said to prefer poached eggs. The foreigner, when traveling, who sees a man order a couple of eggs poached on toast, almost immediately jumps to the conclusion that only an American could have given the order. Hard cooked eggs served whole are another American dish, and "deviled eggs," where the yolk is mixed with various condiments, is strictly American. Fried eggs, too, are more common in America than elsewhere.

Hard cooked eggs are eaten in Germany, too, but they are usually prepared in a glass, chopped with butter, salt and pepper. The German likes his soft cooked eggs very soft indeed, and breaks the contents into a china cup, eating them from the cup. The "egg cup" is an invention of Germany, but the German cups are large enough to contain several eggs. "Sour eggs" are eaten in Germany, too.

The average Englishman likes his egg cooked for three and one-half minutes, no more and no less. He is particular about the time. He prefers a small egg cup that holds one egg, the shell of which is not removed. The Englishman then removes the top of the shell and eats the contents out of the shell. Bread and butter, instead of the toast of the American, is eaten with the Englishman's eggs.

The Frenchman removes the top of his egg, too, but then he stirs the contents vigorously and adds bits of bread and butter to the egg. Sometimes squares of bread are dipped into the egg.

No Spaniard would dream of letting an egg boil three minutes—that is, if he prefers his eggs prepared strictly in the native fashion. The egg is allowed to boil only one minute and is then broken open and the contents poured into a glass, the real Spanish epicure drinking it off as if it were water.

In Italy eggs, to be perfectly prepared, are started on their boiling by being put into cold water. When the water comes to a boil, the egg is done. It is eaten on a large plate with bread.

Once a Spanish Highway.

"The Spanish Main" was a name formerly given to the southern portion of the Caribbean sea and the neighboring coast, as it embraced the route traversed by the Spanish treasure ships from Mexico, Central America, and the northern shores of South America. These waters were once a Spanish highway, but the name has no significance now.

Real Friendship.

Honest men and women esteem and value nothing so much in this world as a real friend. Such a one is as if he were another self, to whom we impart our most secret thoughts, who partake of our joy and comforts in our affliction; add to this, that his company is an everlasting pleasure to us.—Translated from the Brahmin.

BROKEN DOWN IN HEALTH

Woman Tells How $5 Worth of Pinkham's Compound Made Her Well.

Lima, Ohio.—"I was all broken down in health from a displacement. One of my lady friends came to see me and she advised me to commence taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I began taking your remedies and took $5.00 worth and in two months was a well woman after three doctors said I never would stand up straight again. I was a midwife for seven years and I recommended the Vegetable Compound to every woman to take before birth and afterwards, and they all got along so nicely that it surely is a godsend to suffering women. If women wish to write to me I will be delighted to answer them."—Mrs. JENNIE MOYER, 342 E. North St., Lima, Ohio.

Women who suffer from displacements, weakness, irregularities, nervousness, backache, or bearing-down pains, need the tonic properties of the roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Semitic Languages.

Hebrew and Chaldean are sister dialects of a great family of languages to which the name of Semitic has usually been given from the real or supposed descent of the people speaking them from the patriarch Shem. Shem was the eldest son of Noah, born (Genesis 5:32) when his father had attained the age of 500 years. He was ninety-eight years old, married and childless at the time of the deluge. He died at the age of six hundred years.

SIX OF INDIANA FAMILY DIE

Two Women, Three Babies and Man Killed in Car Crash.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 5.—Six persons were killed when a Terre Haute-Indianapolis and Eastern Interurban car struck an automobile driven by Hugh Ellis, two miles north of here Sunday morning. The dead: Hugh Ellis, Ella Ellis, Mrs. W. G. Ellis, Maxine Ellis, Edna Ellis, Evelyn Ellis.

The three last named were children. The other babies of the family were injured and were brought to a local hospital. The family lived at Frankfort, Ind. They were former residents of Lafayette.

Senator's Wife Robbed.
Chicago, Nov. 5.—The police received a report that Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, wife of the senator, was robbed of jewels worth $50.

THREE! REPORTED IN CASUALTY LIST

Cut Off by Fire.
American infantry were in occupation of a small salient for instruction when cut off from the main body by heavy bombardment from German artillery.

General Pershing reports the capture of one prisoner. Enemy losses are not known, says the dispatch.

Aided by Barrage.
The official statement issued by the war department is as follows:

"The war department has received a dispatch from the commanding general of the American expeditionary forces which stated that before daylight November 3 a salient occupied for instruction by a company of American infantry was raided by Germans. "The enemy put down a heavy barrage fire, cutting off the salient from the rest of the men. Our losses were three killed, five wounded and 12 captured or missing. The enemy's losses are not known. One wounded German was taken prisoner."

SERVE WITHOUT PAY.
London: More than 250 of the men filling the higher posts in the British ministry of munitions are serving without pay. A report just issued by the ministry shows that the salaries paid to "men in somewhat equivalent positions" range from $2000 to $15,000 a year, indicating that the saving to the government is large.

CUTTING OFF NOISE.
Paris: M. Hudele, the new prefect of police, has decided that the motorists' contribution to the unnecessary noise of the capital shall be suppressed. The siren trumpet has been suppressed altogether. Other trumpets must be used only when necessary under penalty of fine.

KAISER MIT DER KAISER.
Rio De Janeiro, Brazil: A portrait of Emperor William of Germany, which has been hanging for many months in the government palace, has been removed by order of the minister of foreign affairs. Its place has been taken by a painting showing the Portuguese recognition of Brazilian independence. The Kaiser's picture is now in a store room.

HELPS IN RED CROSS.
Paris: Major Young, detailed by the United States army for the work, is cooperating with the French military authorities and the Red Cross in looking after the needy civilian population in the zone occupied by American forces.

DIXON AND WHEATON IN DRAWN CONTEST

tackled the Wheaton fullback behind the lines. Wheaton completed two forward passes in nice shape, and things looked bad for Dixon. But the players of neither team were able to gain much ground on passes because the field was so slow that a runner could not get far down the field before the quarterback was forced to throw the ball. Wheaton's passes netted her some ground, but not enough and Dixon got the ball on downs.

After an attempt to break through the Wheaton line Schuler played safe and punted and Wheaton again took the ball, but well back in her own territory again. Wheaton tried time and again to break down Dixon's defense but the local boys did superb work and the line held like a wall. Gardner starred himself with a nice tackle behind the Wheaton line. Hutchinson was sent out of the game with an injury. Wheaton's pass failed and Dixon took the ball on downs. Ryneerson took the ball through Wheaton's line for several yards. Schuler was hurt and Shaw filled the quarterback position while he was out. Thomas playing left end. End of first quarter.

Second Quarter.
The second quarter started with the ball in Wheaton's possession and Dixon was penalized for an off side play, which brought Wheaton within ten yards of the goal. Dixon's line held firm against the terrific onslaughts of the Wheaton backs. Wheaton attempted a place kick, but failed, and Dixon took the ball. Hess made a gain on an end run, but Dixon was held for downs. Wheaton's passes failed and she could not get thru Dixon's line, losing the ball again to Dixon. The rest of the quarter was taken up with punts, attempted passes and attempts to gain thru the lines. Wheaton got in two or three end runs, but no great amount of ground was gained. The field was so muddy that the runners could make no speed and it was not a fair test for either team. Wheaton got within kicking distance of the goal and was preparing for another place kick when time was called at the end of the first half.

Third Quarter.
On Wheaton's kick-off, which went far down the field, Hess caught the ball and carried it well. Ryneerson made ground on a fake play thru the right side of the line. Dixon was penalized five yards for an off-side play. Dixon's pass failed and the ball went to Wheaton on downs. Dixon then proceeded to hold Wheaton for downs. Wheaton intercepted a pass and then when Dixon attempted to punt Wheaton broke thru and blocked the kick. Ryneerson gained thru the left side of the line, and then Dixon fumbled, Wheaton capturing the ball. Wheaton was penalized five yards for an off-side play and was held for downs. Dixon lost the ball again to Wheaton on an attempted pass, but got it back immediately on downs.

Last Quarter.
Schuler came back into the game in the last quarter and he carried the ball for a ten yard gain as an opener. A pass failed and then a pass to Schrock was completed, but the gain was not enough and the ball went to Wheaton for downs. Schofield got in a neat tackle behind the Wheaton line. Wheaton attempted a pass that Dixon caught. Hess was put out of the game for rough playing and Dixon was penalized half the distance to the goal line. Dixon kicked. Wheaton got in a couple of end runs which looked dangerous, but were stopped in time and Dixon took the ball on downs. Ryneerson gained ten yards thru the line. Schofield caught a pass which netted Dixon twenty yards but time was called on the game.

Score: Dixon, 0; Wheaton, 0. Wheaton played a good, clean game and the visitors were good sportsmen. Another game between these teams on a better field would
